

Oil industry knew of 'serious' climate concerns more than 45 years ago

April 2016

ExxonMobil, the world's largest oil company, knew of climate change as early as 1981, only to spend millions of dollars over the following 27 years to promote climate denial.

<http://www.theguardian.com/business/2016/apr/13/climate-change-oil-industry-environment-warning-1968>